Solomon Siphuma — Artist Profile

DJ Solss, born Solomon Siphuma, is a South African DJ, music producer and creative entrepreneur whose journey is rooted in a lifelong love for music, creativity and community. Working across Deep House, Afro-house, Amapiano and dance-oriented sounds, DJ Solss has developed a versatile musical identity shaped by soulful and gospel-influenced elements. His relationship with music began at a young age through church choirs, where he participated as a backing vocalist. In the early 1990s, he was already entertaining people at parties using a tape deck and cassette recordings. That early experience sparked a passion for DJing and eventually encouraged him to pursue music more seriously. While building his professional career as a Mechanical Engineer, DJ Solss continued to nurture his passion for music. At one stage, his professional commitments led him to pass his DJ equipment to his younger brother, DJ Lushaka, who went on to establish himself as a DJ in Limpopo. He also donated equipment to his father's church, reflecting an early commitment to using music and technology to create opportunities for others.
